
THE METHODIST HOSPITAL
Department of Pathology and Genomic Medicine
General Surgical Pathology

Description: The Methodist Hospital in Houston, Texas, an affiliate of the Weill Cornell Medical College, offers an ACGME-accredited fellowship in Surgical Pathology for physicians who have completed pathology specialty training and are interested in strengthening and specializing their skills in surgical pathology and related research. Located in the heart of the Texas Medical Center, The Methodist Hospital is a 950-bed private adult teaching hospital with a 1.6 million square foot outpatient center that registers over 310,000 annual outpatient visits. The hospital offers a full range of services from primary to tertiary care, including a multi-organ transplant center and cancer center. A one-year fellowship program is offered with over 30,000 annual surgical accessions. In addition to advanced training in general surgical pathology, the fellowship provides experiences in a broad spectrum of subspecialty areas under the guidance of faculty experts. Electives in surgical subspecialty areas, as well as in immunohistochemistry, flow cytometry, molecular diagnostics, hematopathology, and cytopathology are available. Rotation on a busy consultation service is included. Experience in quality management, laboratory management, teaching junior residents, and tumor board participation are part of the fellowship. Special rotations elsewhere in the Texas Medical Center may be arranged, e.g., The University of Texas HSC -Houston, the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center, etc. The fellow will assume responsibility commensurate with his/her level of training experience. The fellow will be expected to participate in scholarly activities leading to publication.

Requirements: At least two years of training in Anatomic Pathology. Preferably AP or AP/CP Board-eligible. Candidates must be eligible for a Texas Physician In Training Permit or hold a Full Physician Texas Licensure.

Stipends: Commensurate with level of post-graduate training.

Applications: Application deadline is December 31 of the year prior to the intended fellowship year which begins July 1. Application inquiries are to be directed to: Mary R. Schwartz, MD, Director, Anatomic Pathology and Surgical Pathology Fellowship, The Methodist Hospital, Department of Pathology and Genomic Medicine, 6565 Fannin Street, M227, Houston, TX 77030
