As a recipient of the 2009 ICPI Trainee Travel Award, I was able to attend the 2009 College of American Pathologists Annual Meeting in Washington DC. This was an enlightening meeting with great opportunity to network with other practicing pathologists in different settings. The educational opportunities were enormous from the leading experts in both anatomic and clinical pathology who offered excellent lectures with high quality presentations. There were also very many excellent poster presentations and research ideas. The other aspect of the meeting was the residents' forum comprising of residents from all over the country and some overseas, we had great opportunity in our breakout sessions to discuss and debate various issues besides networking.

In summary, I truly enjoyed the meeting which was an enriching experience and can share the new information I received at this meeting with my colleagues. Thank you ICPI for helping me defray my costs for the trip and making this possible.
