

Dear Ms. Stivers,

Thank you for the ICPI for providing me with the ICPI Trainee Travel award to attend the summer academy on Inflammation in Rockville Maryland. I was impressed by the amount of effort all the faculty members have put in to bring the very intricate world of inflammation to an understandable level. As a postdoctoral fellow this session was a quick review and also a learning opportunity for new discoveries in innate immunity and inflammation. I was very pleased to see the faculty going back to basics we have learnt in our pathology classes, with constant reference to Robbins. I strongly recommend pathology residents and students to attend this course. I have already recommended one of my fellow colleagues to attend this course next year.

Thank you again for the travel award.

Sincerely
Vivekananda Datta
