Re: ICPI Travel Award

Dear Dr. Sobel and members of the Intersociety Council for Pathology Information,

Thank you for awarding me an Intersociety Council for Pathology Information travel award which provided me with the opportunity to attend the annual American Society for Clinical Pathology meeting on October 27-31, 2010 in San Francisco, California.

I was able to attend many instructive lectures from topics in dermatopathology to informatics. The exhibits and resident abstract presentations were fascinating and educational. As a resident, I was able to attend valuable networking sessions, lectures on management and the pathology job market, as well as a discussion about the pathology board exam presented by Dr. Betsy Bennett. This meeting was an extremely enjoyable experience not only for its educational value, but also for the opportunities it offered in networking through career management seminars, mentoring sessions, and roundtable discussions with subspecialists. Furthermore, as an ASCP Resident Council representative I will be able to share my experience with my colleagues at NYU School of Medicine and promote future attendance and involvement with ASCP and ICPI.

I am extremely grateful for your financial support. Thank you once again for your generosity.

Sincerely,
Lili Lee, MD
