Re: ICPI Travel Award

Dear Dr. Sobel and the ICPI board,

Thank you for awarding me an Intersociety Council for Pathology Information Travel Award to help cover my expenses in attending the Association of Molecular Pathology (AMP) annual meeting held on November 5-7th in Austin, Texas. I had three poster presentations during this conference.

I attended the AMP Corporate Workshop Day on November 4th, which provided the latest scientific advances and equipment by more than sixty industry representatives. AMP'15 offered many topics ranged from NGS 101 to infectious diseases and other highly-relevant and immediately applicable information. Various challenging case studies are presented with a final proposed diagnosis based upon findings and diagnostic evidence. Being a trainee, I enjoy these diverse and practical education opportunities and had an outstanding educational experience during the meeting. I also presented my three posters during the meeting and had rewarding discussion with other pathologists and scientists.

AMP'15 was not only a great place to meet colleagues and other pathologists; it also provided the latest insights into molecular pathology practice. I would strongly recommend other residents and fellows to attend the AMP annual meeting. Thank you once again for the ICPI Trainee Travel Award which made my journey to Austin possible.

Sincerely,

Yi Ding MD, PhD
